THE statement made yesterday by His Excellency the Governor to the offect that the Chief Justice will no longer have a seat in the Legislative Council will cause very sincere regret. We believe the policy of notgiving Judges seats in the legislature is to be followed in all the Crown Colonies when new appointments have to be made to the Bench. Without entering upon a discussion of this policy, in support of which a great doal might be said, it must be confessed that its application to Hongkong in connection with Mr. Russell's appointment is peculiarly unfortunate for the colony. .. Mr. Russerr, during the various periods be has occupied a seat in the Council, has readered excellent service and-was really one of the most valuable members of that body, being fully conversant with the bistory, the requirements, and the laws of the colony. His absonce from the Council will be a distinct

DEDINANCE No. 18 of 1882 provides that "Such of the inhabitants of Hongkong as volunteer and offer themselves, and as the into a corps for the protection of the Colony of Hongkong, to be called the Hongkong Volunteers;" and rules are to be framed by the Commanding Officer, subject to the confirmation of the Governor, for regulating the period of surolment, the discipline, etc., such rules to be enforceable by fines not exceed. ing $50 for any one breach. The Volunteer Force has been taken into serious account we believe, by the Military Authorities in connection with the strength of the Garrison. There is, however, a lack of permanency about it. Although power is given in the Ordinance to make rules governing the period of enrolment, no such rules have been made, and members are at liberty to resign when they please, without refunding the expense to which the Corps may have been put on their account except that they have to return their accoutrement, nor does any. penalty attach to failure to render themselves drawback to the Corps and calls, we think. At Singapore a Volunteer Artillery Corps has recently been formed, and an Act has been | We would draw attention to the appeal on passed for the government of Volunteer Corps in general which follows very closely the English law. From an article in the Singapore Free Press we learn that according to the new Ordinance a member of a Corps may withdraw simply by giving fourteen days' notice of his intention to do so, coupled with the return in good order, of all arms, accourrements, or other property of the Corps issued to him, and the payment in from London, etc., left Singapore yesterday full of any moneys that may be due by him to the Corps in accordance with his terms of membership. There is appended, however, to this section a proviso which prevents the fourteen-days notice from applying in cases where the contract of service, as set forth in the rules of any particular Corps, is incommistent with such a term of notice of withdrawal. Some such rules as these are, we think, required for the Hongkong Corps, to render it a body that can be permanently rehas been thoroughly revised and brought up lied upon as being always in a state of efficiency. But there is another point in the Singapore Ordinance descrying of attention. place under the Ordinance prohibiting the enclosure of versudahs erected over crownlands bave given rise to a feeling of annevance in certain quarters. The persons who have been fined for failing to comply with the Ordinance fail to see the reasonableness of a law which renders them liable to punishment for having what they consider perfectly harmless partial enclosures in their verandabs, and it is said the law is being carried out without discretion. "The Ordinance was intended to make a clean sweep of all wooden or other enclosures in verandahs, and so clearly defined was the intention of the Legislature that "bamboo blinds capable of being rolled up" were specially exempted; otherwise blinds would have been illegal. The first section of the Ordinance provides that " it shall not be lawful to erect any partition in, or enclose, verandah now erected, or which may hereafter be erected, on Crown land, nor to make use of any such verandah, or any part thereof, as a bath-room, urinal, water-closet, sleeping apartment, store-room, or cookroom, nor to allow rain or other water to be projected therefrom." The second section been let to a new syndicate, two-thirds of the THE SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION BILL, provides that existing partitions, etc., in verandahs are to be removed, the third section imposes penalties, and the fourth exempts the buildings of the Admiralty and War departments. The primary object of the Ordinance was to prevent the spread of is not probably a working margin to bear such a been considered in Finance Committee and the tires, but in the intereste of public health the conversion of verandahs into living rooms, bath-rooms, etc., is objectionable.
